

President Barchi Appoints Judith L. Bachman Senior Vice President for Strategic Initiatives

Judith L. Bachman has been appointed to the newly created post of Senior Vice President for Strategic Initiatives, President Robert L. Barchi, MD, PhD, has announced.

In making the announcement, Dr. Barchi said:

"Many of you have already met Ms. Bachman over the past few months as she has coordinated our strategic planning efforts. In her new role, Judy will report directly to me and will be responsible for the implementation of major new clinical programs in conjunction with the hospital, and for the oversight of new University-wide academic initiatives.

"She will also work closely with Mr. Tom Lewis and the senior leadership of Thomas Jefferson University Hospital on a range of clinical initiatives that involve both partners of the TJU/TJUH enterprise. "During her 28-year career in health management and academic consulting, Ms. Bachman has garnered extensive experience in developing and providing high level management assistance in a wide range of topics related to academic health centers, health systems and medical schools."

Long and Deep Experience

Ms. Bachman comes to Jefferson from CSC Global Health Solutions where she was Partner and Senior Strategy Consultant. During her 13 years at CSC, she led numerous projects involving redesign of complex systems, development of clinical strategies, enhancement of clinical and operational effectiveness, management restructuring, and integration of new clinical information technologies.

Prior to joining CSC in 1992, Ms. Bachman was Senior Vice President of the St. Vincent Health Center in Erie, PA, a 580-bed institution and flagship of a six-hospital healthcare system.

Ms. Bachman received her undergraduate degree from the University of Delaware and earned her Master of Science in nursing from the University of Pennsylvania. She is currently a doctoral candidate in the University of Pennsylvania's Wharton School MBA/PhD program with a focus in Health Care Finance and Organizational Dynamics.

In closing, Dr. Barchi said, "I am excited that Judy will join the Jefferson senior management team in this important new capacity and look forward to working with her to bring our strategic goals to fruition. Please join me in welcoming Ms. Bachman to Thomas Jefferson University."

Ms. Bachman can be reached at 215-503-5643, fax 215-503-9663 or email at Judy.Bachman@jefferson.edu. Her office is located at 622 Scott.

Celebrating the Opening of a New Patient Floor at Methodist Hospital Division

Jefferson's New AED Program Helps Protect Against Medical Emergencies

Now, Jefferson's employees, students, patients and visitors will be even better protected than before if they experience a medical emergency on campus.

Since March, security officers have been responding to medical emergencies on campus with new automatic external defibrillators (AEDs).

Jefferson is the first Philadelphia healthcare institution to have AEDs spread across an entire campus. The hospital has purchased 17 defibrillators to provide adequate coverage for campus buildings. These AEDs are installed at the major manned security posts in the hospital and university buildings.

Bob Hendrick, Director of Security, says, "Jefferson Security Officers are first responders for many hospital and university concerns. Being better equipped to immediately deal with a person in cardiac arrest will enhance our effectiveness as a campus protection force."

How AEDs Are Used

The AEDs will be deployed as soon as the security response center receives a request for assistance via the 811 system. Security officers responding to a request for assistance via the 811 system will apply the AED if the patient is in cardiac arrest and will administer CPR and use the AED until a JeffSTAT ambulance arrives.

"This AED program will be of great benefit to the Jefferson community. Statistics have demonstrated that the sudden cardiac arrest survival rate diminishes by 10 percent for every minute that passes without defibrillation. The rapid response from our security officers will help us improve patient outcomes," says Edward Jasper, MD, Medical Director of the AED program and JeffSTAT, Jefferson's air and ground transport program.

All security officers are trained in CPR and in AED use. The response system, equipment and security officers will be tested regularly via quarterly drills to ensure preparedness. The AED program will be

Jefferson Employees' Generosity Brings 'Gift of Hope' Daffodils to Patients

Ms. Wyszynski and Ms. Reynolds-Walker

Thanks to the generosity of Jefferson employees, up to 100 oncology patients received a surprise dose of spring cheer as 100 vases of daffodils from the American Cancer Society (ACS) were delivered to patient floors.

For the first time this year, employees were given the option to donate $20 to anonymously give a vase of daffodils to a patient as part of the annual ACS Daffodil Days program.

"In unselfish manner, employees purchased this Gift of Hope for cancer patients in our hospital," says Dorothy Wyszynski, Assistant to the Administrator of the Kimmel Cancer Center at Jefferson,

Anne Delegowski, RN, MSN, Clinical Nurse Specialist, Gibbon 3 West, told KYW NewsRadio the response went beyond expectations:

"We were overwhelmed. Actually we were really overwhelmed, because we didn't expect as many as we got."

The program was coordinated through Patient and Volunteer Services - Patricia A. Wallace, Program Director, Volunteer Services, and Brenda Reynolds-Walker, Youth Coordinator.

In Memoriam*Georganne K. Buescher, PhD

The Jefferson community mourns the death February 20 of Georganne K. Buescher, PhD, Associate Dean in the Jefferson College of Graduate Studies (JCGS) and Clinical Assistant Professor in the Department of Microbiology and Immunology of Jefferson Medical College (JMC). She was 61.

Dr. Buescher had a long and fruitful association with the university, starting in her teens as a volunteer candy striper for the hospital. She began her professional career in 1975 in the Department of Medical Technology of the Jefferson College of Health Professions (then, the College of Allied Health Services).

She became Director of the Master's Program in Microbiology of JCGS in 1988, and Associate Dean of the College in 1993. In this capacity she was a leader in the founding and development of many of the Master's Programs of the Graduate College that have proven immensely popular with career professionals seeking to continue their education, and she served as Director of the Graduate Center for Education and Training in the College.

Her many talents and accomplishments were well recognized. Her students continually praised her for the career direction she gave. She received the Lindback Award for Distinguished Teaching from JMC in 1993, and the Distinguished Alumni Award of the Graduate College in 2003.

"Georganne Buescher's energy, initiative and devotion to Jefferson students and her commitment to the university will be sorely missed," said James H. Keen, PhD, Dean, JCGS.

Dr. Buescher is survived by her husband Jerome Buescher, PhD, whom she inspired to become a microbiologist.

A memorial service for Dr. Buescher was held March 22 in Eakins Lounge, Jefferson Alumni Hall.

Memorial contributions in her memory may be made to the Jefferson Master of Science in Public Health Program, and can be sent to: The Office of Institutional Advancement, Thomas Jefferson University, 925 Chestnut Street, Suite 110, Philadelphia, PA 19107.

Paul Marik, MD, Named Director, Division of Pulmonary and Critical Care

Paul Marik, MD, has been named Director, Division of Pulmonary and Critical Care at Jefferson Medical College (JMC) and Thomas Jefferson University Hospital.

Dr. Marik joins Jefferson from the Department of Critical Care Medicine at the University of Pittsburgh School of Medicine where he was Professor of Medicine and Critical Care.

"We are pleased to welcome Dr. Marik to Jefferson," said Arthur Feldman MD, PhD, Magee Professor and Chair, Department of Medicine, JMC. "He brings extensive research and clinical experience in critical care medicine as well as pulmonary disease."

Dr. Marik's research interests include sepsis and tissue oxygenation, nutrition supporting the critically ill and adrenal failure. He is a fellow of several professional and scientific societies.

Active in numerous editorial capacities, Dr. Marik serves on the editorial boards of Critical Care and Shock, Chest and Intensive Care Medicine, is a reviewer for many professional publications and the author of numerous articles in peer-reviewed journals and book chapters on critical care issues and pulmonary medicine.

Dr. Marik received his medical education at the University of the Witwatersrand Medical School in Johannesburg, South Africa. He completed a fellowship in Critical Care Medicine at the University of Western Ontario, Canada, in 1992, after which he became Assistant Professor, Department of Internal Medicine, Wayne State University, Detroit, and Associate Director, Medical Intensive Care Unit, Detroit Receiving Hospital.

Strattons Create Paul C. Brucker, MD, Scholarship

Brucker, who was the University's third President, stepped down last September after 14 years of service.

Author Addresses Medical Mistakes Issues

Rosemary Gibson, co-author of "Wall of Silence: The Untold Story of the Medical Mistakes That Kill and Injure Millions of Americans," spoke to Jefferson Medical College (JMC) faculty and senior administrators on how disclosure, explanations and apologies, or their absence, can influence patients after an adverse event occurs.

Ms. Gibson, Senior Program Officer, Health Care Group, of The Robert Wood Johnson Foundation, and her co-author interviewed more than 75 individuals regarding the medical injuries the individual or a family member incurred. One of those interviewed was a TJUH patient who experienced an anesthesia reaction following surgery. Ms. Gibson uses this TJUH patient as an example of the positive effect of disclosure.

Ms. Gibson came to Jefferson through the collaborative efforts of the TJUH Legal/Risk Management Department, the Jefferson University Physicians Risk Management Department, JMC faculty and the Office of Continuing Medical Education.

Edouard J. Trabulsi, MD, Named Co-Director, Genito-Urinary Clinic

Edouard J. Trabulsi, MD, Assistant Professor of Urology, has been appointed Co-Director of the Genito-Urinary (GU) Multidisciplinary Clinic of the

Kimmel Cancer Center (KCC) at Jefferson, Leonard G. Gomella,

MD, Chair of Urology and Bernard W. Godwin Jr. Professor for Urology, Jefferson Medical College, has announced.

"Dr. Trabulsi will work along with Richard K. Valicenti, MD, who is also Co-Director of the Clinic, and the rest of the KCC team to bring state-of-the-art consultations and treatment recommendations to our patients," Dr. Gomella said.

Dr. Gomella, who has served as Co-Director with Dr. Valicenti since they established the GU Multidisciplinary Clinic in January 1996, will continue to see patients in the center and will continue to serve as Director of GU Oncology for KCC.

Roger Bodine Named New Hospice Facility Case Manager

Roger Bodine has been appointed as the Home Care Network's new Hospice Facility Case Manager, Mary Lou Brophy, RN, BSN, Manager, Facility Case Management for the Home Care Network of Jefferson Health System, has announced.

Mr. Bodine will be working on-site at Methodist and Thomas Jefferson University Hospitals to coordinate referrals for hospice care for patients.

"Roger's extensive background in caring for oncology and hospice patients includes working many years with hospice patients as an inpatient hospice house team manager coordinating the care of a unit with a capacity of 19 patients," Ms. Brophy said.

He has worked as an oncology nurse and as a hospice nurse in both inpatient and home care settings.

"A strong patient advocate with an extensive knowledge of hospice care, symptom management and end-of-life care, Roger can help to promote quality care and support for patients and their families."

Mr. Bodine can be reached on beeper number 610-221-0767 or cell phone number 484-222-1045.

JCHP Student Named Outstanding Adult Postsecondary Student

Cheryl Gebeline-Myers, a Jefferson Headache Center employee who is pursuing a BS in Health Services Management at Jefferson College of Health Professions, was named an "Outstanding Adult Postsecondary Student" by the Pennsylvania Association for Adult Continuing Education (PAACE).

Pennsylvania Department of Education representatives attended the luncheon ceremony, where Caroline Golab, PhD, Chair of Jefferson's Department of General Studies, presented Ms. Gebeline-Myers with proclamations from Governor Ed Rendell, State Senator Edwin B. Erickson and State Representative Nicholas A. Micozzie. Ms. Gebeline-Myers also received a small stipend.

In a recommendation letter for Ms. Gebeline-Myers, Dr. Golab wrote, "Committed to excellence in her work, she is also committed to excellence in the classroom, achieving a GPA of 3.95 while taking numerous courses each semester to complete her BS in Health Services Management."

With two pre-school children, Ms. Gebeline-Meyers works full-time as a research coordinator in the Headache Center while going to school. Her many contributions to the Jefferson community include organizing clothing and toy drives, working with the National Organization for Women (NOW), and volunteering for JeffELECT, a program that offers support to teenagers who are pregnant or who are young mothers.

145 Years, 145 Acts of Generosity

To share in its 145th anniversary celebration, Carver W. Reed, the jewelry store at the corner of 10th and Sansom Streets, is generously providing $145 gift certificates to the parents of the first 145 babies born this year at Thomas Jefferson University Hospital.

"It is with a feeling of great pride and gratitude that we wish to welcome the future generation of this great metropolis," says Tod Gordon, third-generation owner of Carver W. Reed.

"When these children grow up, it would be wonderful to know that a piece of jewelry their parents picked out at their birth could possibly be a cornerstone investment in their future."

Mr. Gordon, third-generation owner of Carver W. Reed, presents a proclamation from Pennsylvania Governor Edward Rendell (see sidebar for excerpt commending Jefferson), honoring Carver Reed's 145th anniversary and service to the community, along with a gift certificate, to second-time mother Jessica Marelli. Mrs. Marelli holds her new daughter, Sabrina, whose father is Daniel Marelli, MD, Surgical Director of the hospital's Heart Transplant Program. ### Excerpt from proclamation by Pennsylvania Governor Edward Rendell:

"I commend Carver W. Reed on its efforts to honor its neighbor, Thomas Jefferson University Hospital, and to recognize the children who are born there in 2005. Jefferson Hospital is renowned in Pennsylvania and across the nation for its commitment to excellence in patient care. The people of Philadelphia and our commonwealth have come to rely on Jefferson as a trusted source of comfort, health, and hope. Thomas Jefferson University Hospital and Carver W. Reed & Company have both helped to make Philadelphia one of the greatest cities in the world and to make our commonwealth a better place to live and work. It is my hope that this distinguished institution and valued company will both continue to be a strong presence in our state for years to come."
