

COMMUNICATION

CREDITS 12

The modification of the Communication Minor requirements is designed to streamline the process in acquiring the Communication Minor, notably following the overhaul of the Communication curriculum in the last academic year. Many courses now listed under the requirements will not be offered, and some were never developed. This change also acknowledges that additional changes will likely come to the Communication curriculum, as the field continues to change as a result of technological and economic factors within the field. The change also is an attempt to make it easier for students to minor in the program, which often only offers classes once per year.
