Welcome!

This publication introduces you to the University Office of Student Financial Aid at Thomas Jefferson University. The Office assists students in obtaining resources to finance a medical education, as well as serves as an educational resource for financial planning and debt management.

We encourage all prospective students to begin the financial planning process early. To assist in this process, we have included “Financial Aid Application Requirements.” This itemized list highlights the basic requirements for applying for financial aid at Jefferson and emphasizes key dates for completing the process. This section also includes information for students who may not be eligible for need-based financial aid. The “Requirements” section offers more detailed information, whereas “Applying for Financial Aid At-A-Glance” is a quick reference.

We have also included a segment on educational indebtedness giving some specific data regarding prior student borrowing at Sidney Kimmel Medical College. As a point of reference, we have included a copy of the SKMC student budget for the current 2019 – 2020 academic year. This will offer you a benchmark from which to estimate your expenses for 2020 – 2021.

For many of you, financing your medical education necessitates borrowing, maybe for the first time. To help you make wise choices, we offer information about specific loan programs.

The section entitled “Loan Facts” provides an overview of the loan programs available to medical students. This information is especially important as it outlines the specific obligations of each loan program.

Please plan to contact the Financial Aid Office for further information.

What constitutes a “complete”
financial aid application?

A completed Financial Aid Application (in applying for all institutionally administered funds) consists of the following:

- A processed Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) document at fafsa.ed.gov or using the myStudentAid mobile app; Sidney Kimmel Medical College federal school code: 010021. The application process opens on October 1, 2019. Parental section must be completed to be considered for university owned financial aid.
- The 2020 – 2021 FAFSA should be completed using the 2018 Federal Income Tax Return via the IRS Data Retrieval Transfer (DRT) process.
- A completed Jefferson Institutional Application and Verification Worksheet (on Banner Web).
- Signed photocopy of a parent’s 2018 Federal Income Tax Return (or non-filing statement if a tax return is not required to be filed).

What parental info must be supplied?

To be considered for Jefferson Institutional Aid, parental financial information must be submitted to the Financial Aid Office as part of your Financial Aid Application. A photocopy of the parent 2018 Federal Income Tax Return must be submitted to the Financial Aid Office and all parental information must be included on all appropriate sections on the FAFSA and Verification Worksheet. Please note that no exceptions may be made.

When are Financial Aid Applications available?

Starting on or about November 1, Financial Aid information is emailed to all accepted students. Students accepted after November 1 will be sent an email within one week of their acceptance date. Instructions for accessing online financial aid applications are included with this communication. Please note that only accepted students are able to access the online financial aid application. Late accepts should file applications within two weeks of acceptance.

Do I need to be a U.S. citizen?

A student must be a U.S. Citizen or permanent resident of the U.S. to receive institutional financial aid as well as aid through federal loan and scholarship programs. No exceptions will be made. A limited number of private loan programs from outside vendors are available to students who are neither a U.S. citizen nor a permanent resident, but have a credit-worthy U.S. citizen cosigner. For information contact the University Office of Financial Aid.

What is Entrance Counseling?

For student loans, you are required to complete a federal online Entrance Counseling Session at Studentloans.gov. This is to provide you with all of the pertinent information about federal loans you may borrow. It is not necessary to wait until you have completed Entrance Counseling to submit loan applications. If you are applying for a Federal Direct Stafford or Graduate PLUS loan, application materials should be submitted between May 1, 2019 and July 1, 2019. Loans may not be disbursed until the Entrance Counseling requirement has been met. The annual maximum for the Federal Direct Stafford loan is $44,944 (for an 11-month academic year). Interest rate for 2019 – 2020 is 6.08%

When will I learn if I’m eligible for University Scholarships?

Students who have completed all financial aid application materials (listed above) by November 1 can expect notification of eligibility between December and January. Financial aid eligibility notifications are sent to your Jefferson email account will continue to be sent daily until orientation.

What is the Federal Direct Stafford Loan?

To be considered for institutional aid, you must plan to first borrow at least $10,000 in the Federal Unsubsidized Stafford Loan Program. This means that any institutional aid you may be eligible for will be over and above this amount. Please note that with the passage of the Budget Control Act of 2011, as of July 1, 2012, the Federal Subsidized Direct Stafford Loan will cease to exist for graduate students. The maximum Federal Direct Stafford Loan will remain, but this loan will have accruing interest while in school.

How can I apply for the Federal Direct Stafford Loan?

All students applying for Federal Direct Stafford Loan funds are required to complete both:

- A separate Master Promissory Note (MPN) (the signed form acknowledging responsibility for repaying the debt).
- Federal Entrance Counseling at Studentloans.gov. To complete the Direct Lending Master Promissory Note (MPN), please follow these instructions:

- Go to the Studentloans.gov Web site.
- Click Sign In and complete login with your FSA User ID. Then click Complete Master Promissory Note.
- Follow the steps given and select Thomas Jefferson University when school name is requested.

Additional available sources

Students who need additional funding beyond the Federal Direct Stafford Loan and/or university funding have alternative ways to finance their medical education which includes the Federal Direct Graduate PLUS Loan, service commitment programs, and private loans (see below).

Federal Direct Graduate PLUS Loan

The U.S. Department of Education makes Federal Direct PLUS Loans to credit-worthy graduate or professional students that can be borrowed to supplement the Federal Direct Stafford Loan and help fund a medical school education. Keeping loans from one source (i.e., federal) is very helpful in the repayment process. For more information about the Federal Direct Graduate PLUS Loan, see <https://studentaid.ed.gov/sa/types/loans/plus/grad-professional>

Service Commitment Scholarships

This category includes the National Health Service Corps (NHSC) as well as military scholarships (AFHPS) through the Air Force, Army, or Navy. Both the NHSC and the AFHPS programs offer full payment of tuition and health insurance, and a monthly stipend to meet living expenses. The service obligation requires one year for each year of support, with a minimum two-year commitment for the National Health Service Corps and minimum three-year commitment for Armed Forces Service Scholarships. Students interested in obtaining additional information about these programs may contact the Financial Aid Office or the specific governing/recruiting agencies at the telephone numbers listed:

National Health Service Corps	800-221-9393
Air Force	215-978-0138
Army	215-232-2047
Navy	215-697-3974

Private Loan Programs

Students needing additional educational loans may be eligible to borrow through non-subsidized, private loan programs. The parameters for these programs are included in the "Loan Facts" chart on the last page. However, as these programs may be higher cost loans, we encourage students to consider all options, including consideration of a Federal Graduate PLUS Loan or securing a loan from parents, before choosing a private loan. Information about additional alternative loan sources is available at Jefferson.edu/financialaid.

How do I know if I'm credit worthy?

Lenders administering most alternative loan programs must determine the applicant to be creditworthy prior to the loan application being approved. Loan applications may be denied if you have unresolved credit problems. For a copy of your free credit report, go to Annualcreditreport.com or contact these agencies:

EQUIFAX (equifax.com)	888-548-7878
TRANSUNION (transunion.com)	800-888-4213
EXPERIAN (experian.com)	888-397-3742

What if I am delinquent on a loan?

To be eligible for any federal, state, or institutional loan funds, students cannot be in default on any prior educational loans. If a student demonstrates financial need, but is ineligible for federal grants and/or loans due to default or delinquency status on a prior loan, Sidney Kimmel Medical College at Thomas Jefferson University will not commit institutional funds to remedy the default status or to compensate for the ineligibility for these funds. It is the student's responsibility to resolve all problems involving loan delinquencies, defaults, negative credit rating, and any other circumstances that would result in the student being ineligible to borrow through any federal or private loan program.

Please Note: Some of these facts may apply to other medical schools as well as Sidney Kimmel Medical College. It is recommended that you contact each school in which you are interested to inquire about particular institutional policies and deadlines. Eligibility for all forms of financial aid is determined annually and is contingent upon the availability of funding.
