Jefferson Comprehensive Traumatic Injury Program

Trauma Team Members

David Rittenhouse, MD
Surgeon

Michael Weinstein, MD
Surgeon

Catherine Gill-Preston, CRNP
Trauma Nurse Practitioner

Andrea Heise, CRNP
Trauma Nurse Practitioner

Alannah Ryan, CRNP
Trauma Nurse Practitioner

Charles Warrington, CRNP
Trauma Nurse Practitioner
Welcome to

Thomas Jefferson University Hospital and our Comprehensive Traumatic Injury Program. Members of our multidisciplinary team of experts are dedicated to providing quality care in the most critical situations. Our Comprehensive Traumatic Injury program is led by some of the best and brightest specialists out there: critical-care-boarded traumatologists, board-certified surgeons/surgical intensivists and emergency medicine physicians, and trauma-certified nurse practitioners and physician assistants.

The Trauma Acute Care Surgeon will manage care in coordination with various specialists. The Trauma Team will visit daily to review the patient’s care plan and goals for discharge. Our nurse practitioners work closely with patients and their families to coordinate a safe road to recovery.

To ensure that those involved with the patient’s treatment can conveniently connect with the care team we offer a service called JeffConnect Virtual Rounds. This tool allows family members and loved ones who are unable to be at the patient’s bedside to remotely watch, listen and ask questions via videoconferencing as physicians discuss the plan of care. JeffConnect Virtual Rounds is patient-initiated. The nurse will inquire about interest in this service and will coordinate with our facilitators to set up a videoconference convenient for the patient, family and loved ones.

Our patients’ voice, input, and questions are extremely important to us. Please contact Julie Donnelly, MSN, RN, our Trauma Program Manager, to address any concerns. Julie can be reached by calling 215-955-6589.